Updates

Programming Language Update

'Under the Hood' - We have upgraded the programming language that drives BatchLine to the latest version:

- Fixes a number of functions that made us incompatible with new websites
- Gave us the option to change look and feel to a more modern look
- Opens up options for further upgrades that were not possible with previous versions

Look & Feel

The first major change is to how BatchLine looks. New icons have been added which we believe will make navigation around the system more fluid and intuitive.

Title Search Improvements

(Please see separate document available on the Batch website for full details: <https://batch.co.uk/web/batchline/batchline-pos.>)

The second major change is to title search and includes:

- Quick Search
- New primary search form

- New advanced filters – Active or Forthcoming, Language, Format
- Results returned by BatchLine users sales or order ranking

Plus

- In most cases returning to Title Search will display the last results meaning no necessity to search again for same titles.
- New 'Prev Results' will display a list of previous searches that can be clicked. Results are instantaneous as those results are temporarily stored on the database. (Last 50.)

Gardners Website Ordering and Login

With the previous version of BatchLine we were unable to display the Gardners website properly meaning that errors were displayed that could be clicked through. This is now fixed and gives us the ability to:

- Auto Login to Gardners website* (see entry at bottom of document)
- Search and place a BatchLine order direct from Gardners website from within BatchLine
- Search and add items to basket

Price Update Based on Gardners RRP now includes VAT

As per the last version of BatchLine, if there is a discrepancy between your stock price and Gardners' current RRP you will be prompted to change:

- When flagging for ordering in Sales (Reorder from Sales)
